

What we have...

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

Consider this...

Moses, who spoke with God through the burning bush, who removed his sandals on the ever-holy ground... who led the captives out of Egypt, who ascended the Mount and saw what can only be described in our frail human terminology and way of thought as the 'back side' of God... then descended with the Commandments... Moses, who by the power of God, parted the sea and freed the captives from Pharaoh.

He did not have what we have.

David, the Prophet, the King, who wrote most of the Psalter from which we chant and sing, who understood repentance and was considered the apple of God's eye — David who slew Goliath, being exalted from a young shepherd boy, to Israel's greatest King...
