It kills off both (Saint John of Kronstadt)

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

20160528d lr type Love brings ease and joy to the heart, whereas envy kills both the body and the soul. How can you not love, when you hear love being preached all around you, when the only enemy of the human race, the devil, is eternal hatred? In all places and in all things you should show love.