

Which people are logical? (Saint Anthony the Great)

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

It's a misnomer to call people logical. People who just read words in books by the ancient philosophers aren't logical. People who really are logical have a rational soul and are able to distinguish good from wickedness and avoid what is evil and harmful to the soul. They're happy to acquire, through study, what is good and beneficial to the soul, and they then apply it, with thanks to God. These are the only people whom we should call logical.
