That's what rules (Saint Theophan the Recluse)

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

Try to overcome your irascible nature. This passion acts against your real will, desire or command. But as long as pride resides within you, you won't achieve anything. That's what governs everything. If you can, kick it out your front door and tell it not to come back.