Our treasure, our hope, what is it? The Church, which isn't there just to give us material things, though it does that as well. It's true that, in the difficult trial which the Greek people is undergoing, the Church has proved to be our mother and people have no hesitation in seeking the help of the clergy. This is why the parishes are always the refuge of the poor, the refuge of those in need. But it's not just that. The Church of Christ also gives the treasure of the Grace of God.
