

19 Μαρτίου 2018

He wounds us unto death (Saint John of Kronstadt)

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

We blunder about, here and there, we're troubled about petty and unimportant things. The devil, who has the power of death, traps us in his snares and wounds us unto death. This is why we must be careful not to become too attached to anything earthly, so that we can avoid his afflictions.