It's always your fault (Elder Aimilianos Simonopetritis)

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

We need fear and trembling in case we look down on others, in case we hold them accountable for our own calamities, because that would be a falling away from God. Saint Isaac the Syrian stresses: 'Nobody else is ever to blame for your transgressions; They're always your fault'. Other people aren't responsible for your tiredness, your sins and your changes of heart.
