

5 Οκτωβρίου 2010

Justice for genocide should have no expiry date

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

After World War II, the Germans gave us their new term for reparation payments to be made to Holocaust survivors — wiedergutmachung. At first, the English translation, making good again, sounded profound and exotic — until I realised that dead husbands, wives, parents, children and the half-alive survivors can't be restored in the way the term suggests.

Read more...

\(περισσότερα...\)